

You are invited to attend this HLN event:

Soil Pit Workshops

You are invited to attend one or both of the Soil Pit Workshops.

These sites are also placement points for HLN's soil moisture probes, to be installed after the workshops, providing real time site data via the HLN website on soil moisture, temperature and plant available water. Come and see how it compares to your place.

Presenters Ian Packer and John Lawrie are from the Soil Knowledge Network, a group of soil specialists who want to share their passion for soil and the land. Ian & John will share their critical soil knowledge and experience to include discussion around:

- How nutrients move through different layers of the soil,
- how different balances of minerals can impact on a plant's ability to take up those nutrients,
- upper and lower plant available water limits.
